Colors. They're as different as students at McGuinness. Separately, they are unique and beautiful in their own distinct way. Together, they create a rainbow with each color complimenting each other.

Every school year projects a mood and colors help bring it across. Theme colors that are unusual helped to paint a picture in our minds of special events during the school year. Maroon and pink were the theme colors for football homecoming, lavender and white remind us of the Pep Club dance, and the junior-senior prom colors were dark and light blue. MHS also has the tradition of class colors. This year, the senior class color was blue. Blue represents intellect and knowledge. Maybe this knowledge is what the seniors have found at the end of their rainbow.

MHS — A KALEIDESCOPE . . .

The junior color is yellow. Yellow symbolizes hope. The sophomores had the class color of purple which is said to be leadership. Finally, the freshmen represented courage, their color was red. If you have looked into a kaleidoscope you know you can make the picture change. In this way, the students at MHS make changes happen, always working towards a better picture of what our school can be.

During the course of the year, we changed schedules three times and we completely remodeled our cafeteria and halls. National and state events effected each student in a different way. The Arab Peace talks, Panama Canal, the new energy policy, and various other political events were in the news.

Attitudes changed also, as student council tried to bring more student interest and involvement.

Some less positive changes were constant towing of student (and in some cases faculty) cars from their illegal parking spaces. Also, the ditch that stretched across the parking lot appeared at the beginning of the year.

One change that was more of a "tradition begun" was the Clancy contest. This was a contest to elect a Clancy for the school year.

Some changes are not permanent. These are "fads". Some fashion fads were moccasins and growing out the short haircuts of last year. This left some girls with some very small pony tails!

Combs, silk flowers, and headbands decorated this growing hair. The color tone in fashion was soft pastels in equally soft materials.

Popular movies really ranged in subject matter. "Oh God" was a movie popular at the beginning of the year. Other movies were "Close Encounters of the Third Kind", "Star Wars", "Looking For Mr. Goodbar", "Turning Point" and "Saturday Night Fever."

A special visitor to the school was MHS Alumnus Greg Burns, a professional artist who donated a painting to the school as part of a fund raising drive in November and December. Other visitors included a coroner, Ewe Von Shauman, a policeman and many others.

Student Council Means Action, Spirit, And Leadership.

Patsy Sellars, President, commented on this years Council, "We did everything I wanted to do, except not all were successful. I think that Council has improved a great deal, and with the changes insight for next year, an even greater improvement will be made."

The different shapes, colors, and sizes of these ornaments represent the many faces of MHS and the students on Council.

Pep Club Grows In Enthusiasm

Pep Club grew in numbers and enthusiasm during the 1977-1978 school year. The club continually supported all sporting events throughout the year. They sponsored a successful Pep Club dance; "Enter My Dreams" in November, and a TWIRP week in the spring. It was seven days of "girl ask boy" activities for the whole student body. At the end of the school year Pep Club held a banquet to give its members a final chance to be together as a group.

Varsity And B-Team Cheerleaders Promote Spirit

1977-78 Varsity Cheerleaders pose in one of their favorite pyramids.

1977-78 Head B-Team Cheerleader, Michele Goldsworthy.

B-Team Cheerleaders are: Michele Goldsworthy, Kathy Clark, Kay Gales, and Meg Morrissey.

Cheerleaders are the leaders of the cheers, the spirit promoters. But cheerleading was more than a glamorous position, it was a great deal of hard work. Practices for games and assemblies were a part of the job - along with cheering at four games a week during the basketball season!

But we were not only a major part of school spirit, we were a public relations group for McGuinness. We represented the attitudes of our school at sporting events and other activities.

Most importantly, cheerleading was fun! It is one of the most exciting activities to be involved with at M.H.S. Many memorable experiences came from cheerleading - I'll never forget it!

Successful Concerts Are Rewarded With Trip To New Orleans.

Band is ...

the greatest performing organization here at McGuinness ... an "experience" ... a group of superior-minded individuals willing to share their talents ... a way to see New Orleans! ... getting up before dawn to hear the sweet sound of flat flutes ... "!"

John Muselmanns' many hours of practicing bring satisfying results.

Percussion members concentrate on making their entrance.

Brigid Kennedy, deep in concentration with her music, doesn't realize the piece ended three measures ago.

Even with the hectic pace that goes along in trying to meet deadlines, being co-editors of the 77-78 Chi Rho has been a year filled with unforgetable memories and many rewarding experiences. It's everyone for himself when it comes to who gets their pages in on time, but the finished product shows what co-operation and dedication is needed to put out a good yearbook. The staff this year was very enthusiastic and it definitely shows, in our eyes, and we hope in yours too.

The Chi Rhoan is a bi-monthly publication at McGuinness High School, 801 N.W. 50th, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma 73118.

With change comes improvement, as the newspaper staff found out after they changed the order of the pages in the paper and the position of the banner (the paper's name), which improved the overall appeal of the publication. The Staff was very successful this year, publishing 11 issues of the Chi Rhoan.

The 1977-78 Chi Rhoan staff included (back row) Carol Cavanaugh, co-editors, Terry McCall, and Janie Novotny, Tami Gleason, Robert Brooke, and Larry Braun (front row) Martha Fitzpatrick, Susan Sundholm, Lori Webster, and Debbie McAuliffe. I am not short, not tall, but the right size.
I am not a laborer-but neither am I lazy.
I have no special talents though I know a little of all.
I am not extremely smart nor am I ignorant.
I am in most cases-average.
But yet I am unbelieveably unique in one way-for only I fill the qualifications for being me.

she has an inside like soft and smooth and always dreams

But
I like her outside too.

Breakthrough

Why am I standing in the wings?
Why am I not on stage?
Can't they see that their star is missing?
The program holds a mistake.
Every evening the encore's cut short.
There's one last curtain call to be made.
I know I could do it if I had the chance.
I know I'd make it big.
I'd be someone to remember
Long after all had gone home.
Before an audience I could turn on.
Under the lights I could shine.
I've got the guts, the determination.
Why have they left me behind?
Someone is missing from the cast party . . .
When will they see that it is I?

Where There Is Great Love There Are Always Great Miracles

You, the Journey

There you were, sitting, staring blankly ahead.
There I was, sitting, staring at you.
I prayed that you would notice me,
I prayed that you would look at me,
as I looked at you.
But, your thoughts were far away.
You were in another world,
another place,
another time.
Then, I journeyed to that place.
I went to find you, I went to bring you back.
But, you were gone,
Nowhere to be found.
I searched, I sought, I tried so hard!
Why did I try to help you? Why did I care?
And as I turned to face my reality
you called to me, you reached out to me.
You were worth the journey
you were worth the pain and fear.
But, now you have gone again and I cannot journey to that place, to search for you, to bring you back.
I watch from a distance now,
you stare blankly ahead, lost in another world,
another place, another time.
I watch the young girl,
she stares at you, praying that you will notice her.
And I turn to leave as she begins the journey.

Wrestlers Grapple

Irish wrestlers struggled through a tough season in 1977-78. Ron Arndt was the new coach and will return to MHS next year. Not returning are senior powers, Matt Engel, Gary Baker and Pat Cassidy. Next year's team will include several experienced members for a stronger season.

Individuality is an asset McGuinness can attribute to our community with great pride. Few students are recognized for their individual talents in a large community. McGuinness defies this idea, allowing every student to contribute in his or her own ways and desires. Individuality is what will keep the Irish character strong for years to come.

Class Of '78 Take Olympics

For years the students of Bishop McGuinness have been participating in a small version of the World Olympics, but with more unique events such as a bubble-gum blowing contest and the traditional class basketball games. For senior Sherri Deupree, being elected first vice-president in charge of the Olympics, brought the Olympics in to a new light.

But after two struggling months the seniors took first place.

Trips

The trip of 1977-1978 was to Washington D. C. Close-Up Week. Twenty students and one teacher, Brother Rick O'Conner, attended this nation-wide program for one week.

The other trip was the senior trip to Six Flags on a Saturday. They left at six o'clock in the morning and were back by one o'clock Sunday morning.

The show must go on! But what about a Homecoming ceremony in the middle of a terrible rain storm? This is the question that the six candidates asked themselves, during the flooded first half of the game. Due to the "luck of the Irish" the rain quit just as the ceremony was about to begin. The evening was highlighted by the crowning of Susan O'Hern as queen.

Icy roads, snowbound escorts, and the flu, all played a part in the 1978 Basketball Homecoming. Due to bad roads the drive to the gym was a hazard for all that ventured out, including escort Matt Engel who was stuck in the snow so bad he was late for the ceremonies and missed the crowning of Kristi Kearney, queen. The annual mixer after the game was called off because of the weather. Instead the queen and her court were treated to dinner at Steak and Ale. Candidate Beverly Coffman was relunctantly escorted home by her parents because of a mild case of the flu.

pos. 4. Ron Oglesby-Runner Up

For years, Clancy has been a little man in the middle of the main hall, but this year Clancy came to life, and began walking the halls as Sophomore, Randy Titony.

Due to the lack of funds in the Yearbook bank account they decided a money raising project was in order. The "Clancy Contest" came into being.

Each contestant was given a chance every day in homeroom to collect votes. For the small amount of 10¢ a vote, each student supported the candidate of their choice.

After three weeks of collecting, an assembly was planned to announce the winner of the contest.

As Clancy, Randy was given the following prizes: one complete Clancy costume and one page in the yearbook.

Its seven o'clock April 28, 1978. Your are pushing your way through the front door with your date at your side, screaming "no more" as your mother flashes one more picture of you!

Then at dinner you face the critical decision when you debate between the little fork and the big fork. But you survive, Or do you, as you walk into the Oklahoma City Golf and Country Club with a wrinkled outfit and a smashed flower. As you are listening to the band, Fullhouse, you realize you can really enjoy the Jr.-Sr. Prom as if nothing went wrong.

As the final year closes for the 1978 Senior class, an era for McGuinness comes to end.

Freshman year the class of '78 entered M.H.S. as the biggest Freshman class yet with a total of two-hundred students. Freshmen were introduced to the freedom of modular scheduling. The class sponsor Tom Hardy, organized the first M.H.S. Ski Club and the first trip to Purgatory Colorado. Highlight of the Freshman year was placing third in the M.H.S. Olympics.

Entering the second year, modular scheduling was abaonded under the direction of Henry Arron and new Assistant principle Sandy Arico. Changes brought about another schedule the "Block System". Sophomores placed a high second in Olympics.

Junior year brought title of "upperclassmen", and the previlege of off campus lunch periods. Junior class rings were purchased and blessed at Ring and Robe ceremony. Traditional Junior-Senior egg fight was cancelled for '77 term. Juniors brought about a landslide victory to place first in '77 Olympics.

The title Senior, brings off-campus extension and responsibility as four years comes to end, with Ring and Robe ceremony, Senior Banquet, Class Trip, and finally Graduation. Senior year also shows '78 is Great by again, placing first in their final year of M.H.S. Olympics.

Jrs. Have A Full Year Of Activities

This year the class of '79 had a full calendar of fund raising activity. They sold all kinds of expresses, movies on Saturday, car washes, sold mums at the Winter Homecoming, held a very successful paper drive, and much more. They did all this under the guidance of Class President Dan Baade, Vice President Carol Kearney, and Susan Booker Sec.-Treasure. The Junior class and reps were also very anxious to help raise the money for the Prom. In total they raised a little over 2,000 dollars, and the Prom turned out to be a very exciting Prom.

Class Of '79 Is Doin' Fine

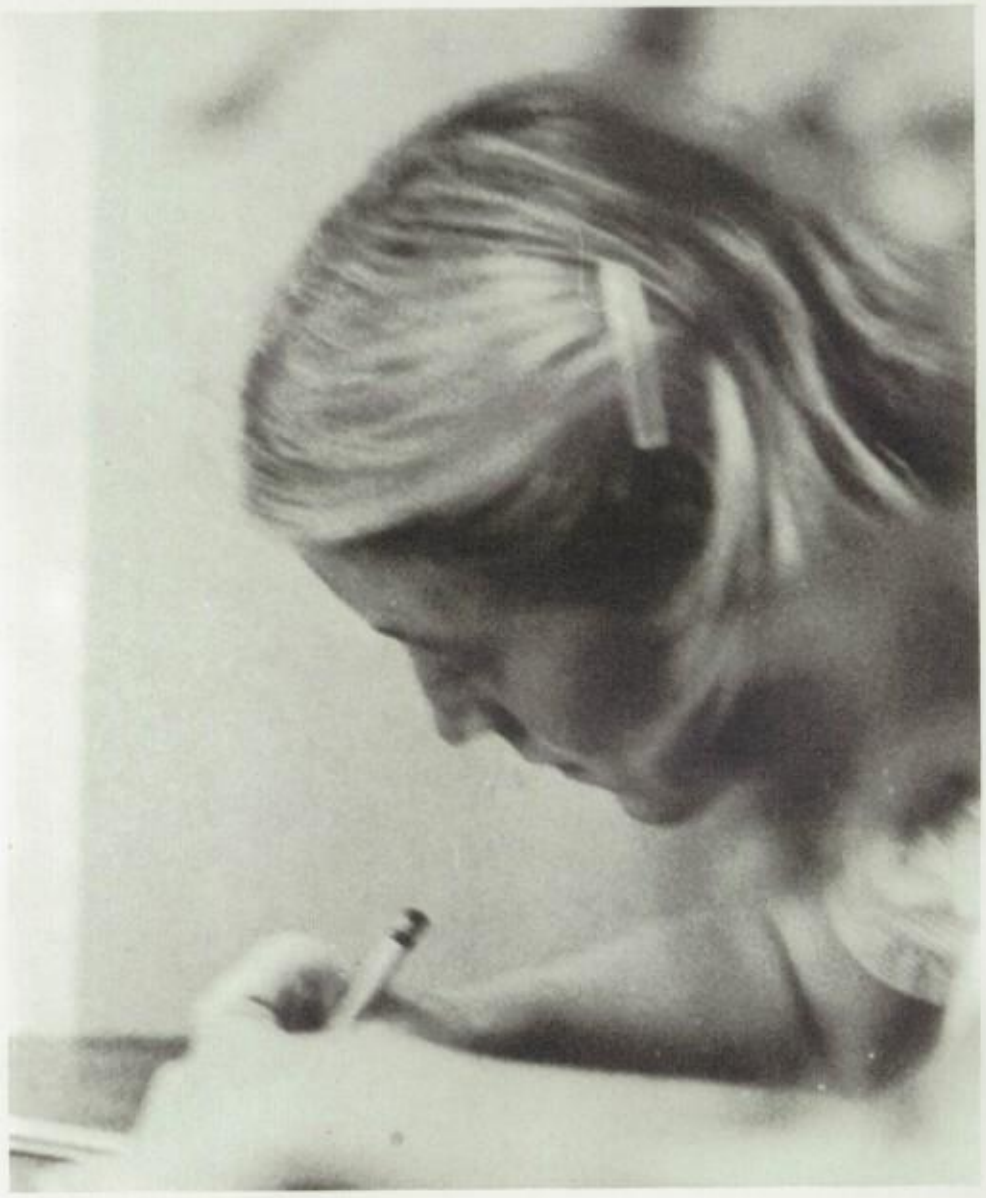
Class President Dan Baade had this to say about the Junior class:

"I think the class of '79 in their Junior year changed alot. All of the changes, I believe, were good ones, the class became more united as we looked in a sort of panic at the last year of high school. We wanted to do more and wished we had more time.

The class also accomplished more in the area of fund raising than any other class in preparation of the most exciting Prom ever given at McGuinness. Our Junior year without question, topped all of our years at McGuinness and made us hopeful for a "Great SENIOR Year"!!



Kristi Kearney is taking her time to finish her test.

This year the Junior Class closed the year with successful Prom and proved well in the Olympics. All together the Junior Class had a great year, and hopes that the up coming year that they can do just as well. With the luck of the class of '79 we hope that in the year to come that their spirit can build and that they can become more united and find that they can be the only class that will be remembered as one of the finest class that has every been at MHS.

"I feel that our class has done alot this year to be proud of and I hope that we can do just as much next year as we need this year."

"I have not been at MHS that long but I think that the class of '79 is the best and I hope that we can prove ourselves well next year and probably do just a well.

"The class of '79 has the most spirit and I hope that when we are Senior that we can gain alot more, and I also hope that our class can grow more united and stay a close class.

Sophomores Had A Busy Year

The Class of 1980 have grown to be a highly spirited and united class. This was exhibited at the opening assembly of the 1978 Olympics, as the enthusiastic Sophomores cheered their class on. The Sophomores remained exuberant throughout the Olympics and the school year. The spirit of the class helped make fund raising projects a success. A few of the Sophomore sponsored projects were a car wash, a mixer and expresses. These projects helped bring in money to the class treasury, which is being increased for the prom that they will give next year. Purple was the appropriate class color for a vigorous group of Sophomores.

The Sophomore class officers were Valerie Pena, President, and Mary Khoury, Treasurer.

Sophomore Homeroom Reps. were (standing), John Marino, Valerie Pena, Charlie Hayes, Katie Mannix, Tom Stancampiano, Margret Sellars, (kneeling) David Davis, Janet Worley, Mary Khoury, Becky Burgess and Pam Kerrihard.

The class of 81 met the challenge of a new school with eagerness and enthusiasm. Scott Davis was elected class president and Patti Wall became secretary/treasurer.

With red as their class color, the Freshman looked toward their first Olympics with high hopes. They made posters to decorate the halls, and spirit ran high at the opening assembly.

Their money-making projects included selling hot dogs on field day.

THE POT OF GOLD

Students Enjoy Art

This year 228 girls and guys sharpened their culinary, sewing and artistic talents in a variety of classes. These classes included Home Economics, Jewelry, Ceramics, Sewing, Foods, Oils and many more. When asked why they took these particular classes, the students almost invariably replied, "I love it.", "It's fun.", "It's very relaxing."

In the art classes the students learned macrame, painting, batik, pottery making, jewelry . . . -all depending on which class they chose.

In the Home Ec. courses, Mrs. Stancampiano's apprentices developed the skill of cooking while studying how to be economical in the household. They also learned the art of sewing (which isn't as easy as it looks) with the added plus of boosting their wardrobes.

Lori Speligene sews busily during Home Ec. Class.

Mike Steel concentrates on making a ceramic pot.

And Home Ec. Courses

Molly Wells works at the task of making ruffles.

Joe Green and Donald Thiery don aprons during Chef's Course.

Cath Bibb melts wax in preparation for a batik work.

Students On The Job.

Lori Lane keeps busy working at The Jade.

Hong Nguyen sells cookies, cakes and breads at Irene's Bakery.

Making extra money during the year is one thing on the minds of many students here at MHS. Jobs vary from the bakeries and ice cream parlors to the clothing stores and private country clubs.

Why do these students take time out from their studies and extracurricular activities to work? Some just like to keep busy. Others pay all or part of their tuition and are saving for college. Still others spend their money on clothes, movies and things they wouldn't ask their parents to buy.

The year was filled with many exciting and memorable events. As a result, on any given day, one can invariably find at least half a dozen of the "example setters" in Le Café.

Delia Reyes, Debby Brown and Karen Wyskup spend the lunch hour eating pizza at Sammy's.

Lori Speligene sets the gas and money saving example by eating lunch in the café.

Alesia Boyer jokes around with some friends after eating.

What We Wore

Two looks were prominant this year in woman's fashions and these could be seen in the halls of MHS. They were the soft style and the "definately military" style. The soft fashion was characterized by blouson tops and wide flowing skirts with lace and ribbon trim-shown here by Lori Lane and Margaret Bradley. The military style showed old army-navy outfits-worn by Missie Merchant.

Best dressed men were wearing the 3 piece suit-shown here by Jeff Calava or else something open, comfortable and perhaps a bit large-as worn by Phil Moore.

These Days

Ring and Robe and Baccalaureate mark the beginning of the end of high school days. During these last days an even closer kinship is felt between the seniors. Many reflect that they wish they would have gotten to know a certain person better, but all are glad for their friends in days past.

Ring and Robe was a humerous occasion. Speeches were given by the 4 class presidents: Susan Sundholm, Barry Fagin, Margie Pinkley and John Terlip. The will was read and the slide show was presented.

Baccalaureate Mass was held in St. Francis church. Father Jim Mikus was the celebrant and Father John Petusky gave the sermon. Graduates participated in the mass.

Renee Richie and Kurt Rupert sit pensively during the ceremony.

John Terlip displays his jubilation.

K.C. Morrissey and Alan Staples will down the class handshake.

Become Memories

Graduation was a happy occasion for the class of '78. Of course, there were a few tears but at the same time most of the grads were excited over the new prospects and adventures headed their way.

The tune of "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the MHS band led the seniors down the isle. Speeches were given by Salutatorians Barry Fagin and Mane Salmeron and by John Arcisz, Valedictorian. Archbishop Salatka presented the diplomas and at this time one was able to hear comments such as "It's real!", "All right.", and "Ya Hoo!!"

Mike Necco

Although Mike Necco was only a part of our McGuinness community for a short time, many people grew in his friendship. "A true champion," are the words most often used to describe Mike, for a champion he was. As a diver he went to the AAU Junior Olympics 5 consecutive years and came back with 5 medals. Mike went to Regional Competition 3 times and State 4. He came back with an award each time. Mike had a good sense of humor and enjoyed being around people.
